Personality Enhancement Program (PEP Model)

PEP model has been introduced with the objective of holistic development of students. PEP model is useful to the students in analyzing the abilities and identifying and bridging the gaps of industry expectations. PEP acts as a catalyst resulting in experiential learning towards success and growth of the students thereby grooming their overall personality to become industry ready and meet the global challenges. It enables students to understand how well they are prepared to meet the global needs. More than good grades and high test scores, students who develop these skills are better positioned for success in the workplace. In the PEP Framework we identify three pillars for the holistic development of the students or to develop a Whole Student. They are: Project Based Training, Value Based Training and Personality Development Training, that will illuminate three dimensions of their Professional image.
