2. Measures taken to complete the syllabus of courses and programs.	The unprecedented Pandemic affected the working of educational sector potentially. The entire sector needed to transform its processes to virtual learning mode. Higher education institutes such as Shri Vaishnav Institute of Management, Indore is not an exception to it. The strong mentoring system of the Institute created virtual learning environment for the students through personality development classes, technical grooming sessions, preparation of aptitude and interviews. Regular classes before pandemic were conducted physically in institute premises using ICT tools. During pandemic, regular classes were held through online meeting applications such as Zoom, Google Meet, Cisco Webex and Google Classroom. Even during the pandemic, the Institute organized various activities such as webinars by industry experts and academicians, workshops, and corporate interaction in virtual mode. Students were encouraged to participate virtually in the institute activities to maintain connect in the hard times. Faculty members conducted frequent meetings with students and also personal calling to them and their parents to know their well being and to resolve issues if any arisen due to pandemic. Mentors called up students and their parents and confirmed that they are physically, mentally and psychologically in good condition. Students were also counselled during the entire lockdown period. Virtual Yoga sessions were also organized for the students during this period to improve their physical and spiritual health. The study material was shared with students through Google Classroom. Audio-visual lectures through YouTube were delivered for all the students to reduce the academic loss during pandemic. Students were trained virtually for the placement interviews as well. Two internal examinations or internal viva voce are conducted at the Institutional level for both undergraduate and postgraduate programmes. Every subject faculty prepares two sets of test papers, which are submitted to the departmental examination committee, which further selects, moderates and finalizes the question paper. The students are evaluated based on internal evaluation, presentation, live projects, quiz/assignments/class performance/attendance and viva voce examination. Due to the pandemic, this year this entire process was performed virtually. The internal tests were taken online through Google forms. Students also submitted their assignments online which were evaluated by concerned faculty members. Students' performance was communicated through online sessions. The Institute has made the optimum use of social media platform during pandemic to benefit students in all aspects. The study material as a part of course completion was delivered to students on their e-mail ids, WhatsApp groups and through Google Classroom. Doubts solving sessions were also conducted to understand the students' clarity towards virtual curriculum delivery.
